

Spider Crawl Jam

D. Hoge

Using the tip of your fourth finger, hold the first string down at the 12th fret.

Play the string using your guitar pick. Maintain enough left-hand pressure to produce a clear sound.

Place the tip of your third finger on the 11th fret, and then lift your fourth finger into a ready position. Play the string with your pick.

Place the tip of your second finger on the 10th fret, and then lift your third finger into a ready position. Play the string with your pick.

Place the tip of your first finger on the ninth fret, and then lift your second finger into a ready position. Play the string with your pick.

Now place the tip of your fourth finger on the 11th fret, and then lift your first finger into a ready position. Play the string with your pick.

Continue the pattern as you work your way down the fretboard one fret at a time.

As you move slowly down the fretboard, remember to take time to find the middle of each fingertip.

You will end Spider Crawl Jam by playing the open first string.
